BILL VEECK
President

Bill Veeck came back to Comiskey Park December 16, 1975, after an absence of 14 years. The American League on December 10 had voted Veeck and his group approval to purchase the Chicago White Sox. Six days later the purchase was completed and Veeck personally accepted the ball park keys and took formal possession.

It was an emotional, historic occasion because Veeck and his investors had undoubtedly saved the White Sox for the City of Chicago.

The man who in 1959 led the White Sox to its first pennant in 40 years has returned to again strive to bring Chicago another baseball championship.

Veeck was born February 9, 1914 at Hinsdale, Ill., a Chicago suburb. As a youngster he worked in various capacities for the Cubs at Wrigley Field, where his dad was General Manager.

After his father's death in 1933, Veeck left college to become a full time Cub employee. In June, 1941 he departed from the Cubs to purchase the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association. In just four years Veeck took that team from the brink of bankruptcy to where it set minor league attendance records and won three pennants.

World War II intervened and in 1943 Veeck joined the U.S. Marines. A recoiling artillery piece injured his right leg on Bougainville. Operation after operation failed to save the leg and in November of 1946 it was amputated.

Earlier that year (June 22) a syndicate headed by Veeck purchased the Cleveland Indians. The next year Cleveland doubled its attendance. Then in 1948 Cleveland won its first pennant in 28 years and beat the Boston Braves in the World Series. Attendance was tremendous as Cleveland attracted 2,620,677, a record that still stands.

After the 1949 season Veeck sold the Indians and he purchased the St. Louis Browns in 1951. Then on September 29, 1953, Veeck sold the St. Louis Club to a Baltimore group.

Early in 1959 Veeck acquired control of the White Sox; the club won its first pennant since 1919 and set a home attendance record of 1,423,000. Then in 1960 Veeck's White Sox drew 1,644,460 for the all-time club record. It was also during this season that Veeck introduced Comiskey Park's famous "exploding scoreboard."

Ill health forced Veeck to sell the White Sox in 1961. He moved to Easton, Md., and while he regained his health he authored several books and also operated Suffolk Downs race track at Boston. Meanwhile he continued his efforts to purchase another Major League franchise.

Success finally greeted his efforts last December and he undoubtedly prevented the White Sox from being shifted to Seattle.

Veeck is married to Mary Frances, former publicist for the Ice Capades. They have six children; the oldest Mike, 24, is employed in the Sox front office. The others are: Marya, 21; Gregory, 20; Lisa, 16; Julie, 14; and Christopher, 13.

PAUL RICHARDS
Field Manager

Paul Rapier Richards returns for his second tour of duty with the White Sox this year. Richards enjoyed considerable success as White Sox manager in 1951-54 when the famous "Go-Go" White Sox thrilled the nation's baseball fans. A former minor and major league player from 1926 thru 1949, Richards has been one of the game's most versatile men as he has also managed nine seasons in the minors and 11 years in the majors, as well as serving as a big league vice president and general manager. Richards was born Nov. 21, 1908, at Waxahachie, Tex., and still makes his home there. A "jack-of-all-trades," Richards was primarily a catcher but he also played every infield position and also pitched with both his right and left arms during his long baseball career. He caught all seven games for the Detroit Tigers in the 1945 World Series and it was his clutch double with the bases loaded in the first inning of the final game that sparked Detroit to the World championship. His wife's name is Margie and they have one daughter. In 1945 Richards was named as catcher for The Sporting News All-Star Major League team. He was named as manager of the White Sox on Dec. 17, 1975. His complete record follows:

ORTA, Jorge — IF

5' 10" — 170 — L-R

Born 11/26/50 — Mazatlan, Mex.

MAJOR LEAGUES: One of the American League's most consistent hitters, Orta followed up his .316 mark of 1974 with a figure of .304 in 140 games in 1975 . . . Thus, the youthful Mexican has boosted his big league career mark to .290 for 3½ seasons of action . . . He was third in the loop in triples with 10 . . . He also had an errorless streak of 40 consecutive games, from Aug. 10 to Sept. 23 . . . Against the tough Baltimore pitching, Orta had 10 RBI's in 11 games with 16 hits as he batted .364 . . . Orta had 17 RBI's and 23 hits against Texas in 18 games . . . His best average was a .393 mark vs. Milwaukee . . . A real oddity, Orta had 354 putouts and also 354 assists in 1975 . . . He made the 1975 American League All-Star team but a leg injury prevented his playing . . . In 1974 Orta finished second in the American League in batting, trailing only Minnesota's great Rod Carew . . . Last year he paced the White Sox in slugging percentage (.450) in hits with 165, triples (10), RBI's (83) and he was second on the club in stolen bases with 16.

MINOR LEAGUES: Orta started playing pro baseball in Mexico in 1968 . . . He had a remarkable season in 1971, batting .423 for San Luis Potosi and .362 for Mexicali . . . In his only minor league stint in the States, Orta had a .316 bat mark for Knoxville in 1972.

PERSONAL: Resides in Torreon, Mexico . . . His father, Pedro, was an outstanding professional ball player in Central America . . . Orta was a prep basketball star at high school in Mexico . . . Jorge was recommended by George Noga . . . His hobby is music.

WHITE SOX FARM SYSTEM

The Chicago White Sox minor league system produced one divisional champion in 1975 but the feature of the season was the continued improvement of the large number of prospects whose ultimate goal is the parent club.

In Triple-A, Denver won the Western Division championship of the American Association with an impressive 81-55 won-and-lost record, then bowed in the playoffs to Evansville, 4 games to 2.

Denver's domination of the American Association West is evidenced by the large number of players it placed on the All-Star team. Three pitchers were selected—Pete Vuckovich, Rich Hinton and Steve Dunning. Jeff Sovern was named as catcher, Lamar Johnson at first base, Manny Estrada at second, Jim Lyttle in the outfield and Sam Ewing as Designated Hitter. The Denver pilot—Loren Babe—was selected as manager.

Johnson had a remarkable year as he led the American Association in batting (.336), hits (163), doubles (35) and total bases (262). He also finished second in RBI's with 101 and in home runs with 20. Johnson was picked as the American Association Player of the Month for August; the big first baseman hit .442, had nine home runs and 33 runs batted in that month. Johnson had also blasted 20 homers and had made the American Association All-Star team in 1974.

Manager Jim Napier led Knoxville to a third place finish in the Southern League with a 63-75 record.

The Knoxville club also placed well on the Southern League All-Star team. First Baseman Mike Squires, Second Baseman Doug Stodgel, Outfielder Cleo Kilpatrick, Lefthanded Pitcher Ken Kravec were all selected, as well as Napier as the All-Star manager.

Squires was outstanding as he was named as the Most Valuable Player in the Southern League and he was the only unanimous choice on the All-Star roster. He was picked as Player of the Month in June.

Squires batted .304 with 136 hits in 129 games and he also stole 24 bases. Kravec won 14 games while losing only 7 and he had a fine earned run average of 2.41. He was named as the best southpaw hurler of the Southern League.

Gordon Lund piloted the Appleton club which finished fourth in the Midwest League's first half race, then sixth in the second half.

Two members of the Appleton club were selected on the Midwest League All-Star team. They were Lefthanded Pitcher Tony Komadina and Third Baseman Kevin Bell.

Two of the season's highlights were turned in by a couple of big righthanded pitchers—Larry Monroe and Chris Knapp.

On Aug. 22 Monroe pitched a 7-inning no-hit, no-run game against Cedar Rapids, walking only two. Knapp, White Sox first round draft choice in 1975, was most impressive after joining Appleton in June, permitting only 49 hits and fanning 99 in 87 innings with an ERA of just 1.97.

Bell had an outstanding year. The 20-year-old third baseman started 1975 with Appleton, had 16 doubles, 4 triples, 8 homers and 42 RBI's in just 67 games before being promoted to Knoxville (AA). In 66 Southern League games Bell walloped 15 doubles, a triple and 11 homers with 41 RBI's as he batted .304. In less than two seasons of pro ball this fine prospect has slammed 34 home runs.

Mannie Estrada was named Rookie of the Year in the American Association.

White Sox Radio-TV

Harry Caray, one of the top baseball broadcasters in the country, will again describe all 162 games over Radio Station WMAQ, Chicago, 67 on the dial.

This will mark the colorful Caray's sixth season at handling Chicago White Sox play-by-play broadcasts and the 32nd year that he has been broadcasting Major League baseball.

Caray broadcast St. Louis Cardinals games in the National League for 25 years, then spent one season as announcer for the Oakland Athletics before coming to the Chicago White Sox in 1971.

Caray began his apprenticeship in radio sports before World War II at nearby Joliet, Ill., long a "hot-bed" for White Sox fans. He eventually worked his way up to KMOX, St. Louis, Mo., to begin his career as a play-by-play announcer of big league games.

Caray will also be part of the broadcast team handling the telecasts of Chicago White Sox games this season over WSNS-TV, Channel 44, with WGN Continental Broadcasting Company handling production. Channel 44 plans to air 125 regular season home and away games.

1927 — IN MEMORIAM — 1975
JACOB NELSON "NELLIE" FOX

When Paul Richards managed the Chicago White Sox in 1951 thru 1954, a diminutive infielder named Nelson Fox became his regular second baseman. Fox went on to stardom and in 1959 he was named as the American League's Most Valuable Player as he sparked the White Sox to the pennant.

At that time Richards was quoted as saying: "Nellie came as close to making himself a big league player out of sheer will power as anybody I have ever seen."

Connie Mack first signed Fox to a contract when Nellie was only 16 years old and shipped him to Class B in 1944 as a first baseman-outfielder. On Oct. 19, 1949, Frank Lane made one of the greatest trades of his long career when he got Philadelphia to give Fox to the White Sox for Catcher Joe Tipton.

Fox played 14 seasons for the White Sox and was an inspiration to everyone with his display of hustle, desire, determination and courage. The climax came in 1959, when Chicago captured the flag and Fox was the league's MVP.

While with the White Sox Nellie also played under Managers Marty Marion and Al Lopez. Marion, a great infielder himself, said: "I have never seen an infielder who was surer on flies or who covered more territory."

Lopez, a former great player himself, said: "I knew Fox was a real good player before I came to Chicago but I didn't realize how really great he was until I got a chance to manage him."

Fox set eight Major League records during his White Sox career. He batted .290 for the Sox, hit .375 in the 1959 World Series and was named on the American League All-Star team for 12 years. It was his hit that won the 1954 All-Star Game for the American League.

White Sox fans will never forget their great little second baseman, whose heart was every bit as big as he was small.
